20TH CENTURY & MODERN ART NEW YORK, MAY 2021

Totalling $481M from its 20th Century Art Evening Sale, Christie's successfully achieved 4% BI with only one passed lot and one withdrawn. The star lot of the night was Femme assise près d'une fenêtre by Picasso, which after 30 protracted bids, sold +64% above its estimate for a total of $103.4M. This artwork was previously sold for $45M at Sotheby's London in 2013, increasing 45% its value in only eight years. Another superb result was hammered for Claude Monet's Waterloo Bridge, effet de brouillard auctioning for $48M. However, the surprise of the night was Wayne Thiebaud's Toweling Off. Painted in 1968, the oil on canvas sparked a long bidding battle that included 17 buyers and finally selling for $8.5M, +492% above its estimate.

Sotheby's Impressionist and Modern Evening auction brought a total of $218.3M with only a 9% BI. Guaranteed for $40M, Claude Monet's Le Bassin aux Nymphéas stepped into second place of the evening. The auctioneer opened the bidding at $20M and saw a cross-continent bidding war among two specialists in London and one in New York. A total of 17 bids propelled the painting to a final sale of $70.4 million (+63% above its estimates). This masterpiece was last sold in the same auction house in 2004 for $16.8M in 2004. Another top lot was Diego Rivera's female portrait, which sold for $7.4M, doubling its $2M – $3M estimate. A notable element of this sale was the use of 11 third-party guarantees and 3 in-house irrevocable bids, including Amedeo Modigliani's Jeune fille assise, les cheveux dénoués hammering under its estimate for $14M.
